Assignment - 6

1A. Common Examples of Exception are 1) Division by Zero, 2) Accessing a file which is not existent, 3) Addition of two incompatible types.

2A. When an exception occurred, if you don't handle it, the program terminates abruptly and the code past the line that caused the exception will not get executed

3A. To recover from exceptions use a try block to catch the exception and except block to handle the exception

4A. raise keyword is used to trigger the exception in the script

5A. else and finally are two methods which will execute if exception exists or not.